

ISTE 645: Research Project - Synopsis of Pros and Cons

- Greeshma Ganji

The website is named Impacts of C which means Impacts of COVID-19. The website gives users information about the COVID-19 virus and how it had impacted the world. This website focuses on the impact of virus on work and how it changed the employment environment across the world, also how collaboration played important role during COVID times, and how students, faculty, and education sector has been affected by the pandemic.

The website uses shades of dark blue (#061A40) and light blue (#BCDFFF) to give user a positive feeling and Image of virus in the center of the site to highlight the main topic which is Virus. Below session gives users various resources regarding which they can use depending on weather they want to learn about virus if they have virus to learn about benefits offered by government and other patient resources. Other pages contain deep information regarding each impact.

I have used navigation bar at the top in desktop view and side navigation bar in mobile view, and in the impacts page desktop view has them listed horizontally and vertically in mobile view in different size. I think I did good job retrieving the data, and planning out my layout in figma and tried to implement my site as closer it can be with my wireframes. The addition of images and youtube links made the site better. The website can be made even better if

Extras:

1. A fixed Top button which scrolls back to top, when the user scrolls down in the main page i.e., index page. This was implemented using JavaScript.
2. The Feedback form button form, when clicked, a small window pop opens and asks user to give a few details and feedback with submit and cancel buttons. After feedback is submitted a thank you page opens. This is implemented using PHP and forms.
3. Side navigation bar when clicked opens up, and close option to get back to home page. This is done using JavaScript.
4. Responsive images for different screen sizes.
5. Media file attached in the About the Site section. Opens up a pdf file of synopsis of the site. This is done using media tag.
